

Although Virginia Tech's spring football game was cancelled, alumni and supporters still traveled to campus that weekend, many of them attending the Friday night baseball game. As a result, an English Field-record crowd watched the Hokies play Miami after a moment of silence.